STEERS HIT RECORD HIGH AT CHICAGO

Choice Beef Brings $32 Cwt.;
Receipts in 12 Centers Far Above Week Ago.

FROM N-J NEWS WIRES
CHICAGO—A heavy surge of marketable livestock and a new all-time high—$32 per hundredweight for choice steers—highlighted the opening of national stockyard dealings today. It was the first big rush of shippers on the new free market.

Chicago's Union stockyards, with cattle receipts of 9,500 head compared to yesterday's 2,000, reported the $32 high. This was $1.75 above the cattle peak of $30.25 set during the August de-control holiday, and $3.25 more than Tuesday's best price.

Opening hog prices here were steady with Tuesday, ranging from $25 to $26, slightly below yesterday's all-time high of $27.50, but sellers were asking two to three dollars more and seemed almost certain to get it.

Yesterday hogs reached $30 a hundredweight in Cincinnati, $29.50 in Columbus and $27.50 at Cleveland. The former ceiling was $16.10.

The 12 principal markets of the nation totaled $95,900 hogs compared with 10,340 a week ago and 29,321 a year ago, and cattle 62-900 cattle compared with 31,816 a week ago, and 59,409 a year ago.

Sheep came in about at the same levels as before, since there had been no ceiling controls on live sheep. The dozen markets totalled 51,800 sheep, 51,663 a week ago, and 61,390 a year ago.

City Meat Supply Building Up Again.

While Mansfielders today whetted their appetites for the steaks they have been promised for the week-end, they began paying two cents more for the quart of milk delivered at their doors.

The milk price increase affects all milk products except one. Junior can still buy an ice cream cone for a nickel.

The 20-cent milk price was established by Mansfield dairies in order to keep the Richland county milk supply at home, dairymen said.

Retailers here said that the increase was forced by the Cleveland market which has surrounded the city with buyers.

Meanwhile, the Kearns Packing company, supplier of meat to 80 per cent of Mansfield's

DIES AT FIRE

Silliman, 82, Drops Dead as Firemen Battle Blaze.

PLYMOUTH—Dwight Silliman,
82, dropped dead last night as fire threatened his home four miles northeast of Plymouth. The fire, of undetermined origin, started in the kitchen. Firemen from Greenwich held damage to a minimum.

A lifelong resident, Mr. Silliman leaves a brother and sister, Clara and Will, who resided with him; another brother, Ed, of New Haven township, and two other sisters, Mrs. Mary Bockenstow, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Ella Hole, of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Mc-Quate funeral home with Rev.
Crowshaw, of North Fairfield, officiating. Burial will be made in Shiloh cemetery.

Showers Likely,
Cooler Forecast

The weatherman today cocked an eye at the clear skies, promised they'd continue until this evening, and predicted scattered showers and a return to cooler conditions tomorrow.

Temperatures in the 70's were forecast for this afternoon. The high yesterday at Hayesville was 69 degrees, with a low of 50.

REECE BLAMES CRISIS ON DEMS

Republican Leader Replies to Truman's Address.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece tossed the blame for the meat shortage back to President Truman today and urged the election of a GOP congress to combat what he termed the administration's "attempts to dominate the American system."

In a broadcast reply to Mr. Truman's meat decontrol address,
Reece declared last night:

"The once great political alignment that followed Jefferson and Jackson and Wilson has fallen under control—at the policy-making level—of persons who believe that government should run the people, that our citizens do not have sense enough to govern themselves."

Reece also conjectured that Mr.
Truman might restore controls on meat "as soon as the election of 1946 has passed into history."

"A few weeks before election, the president suspends all controls over meat. This is a familiar pattern, before election, whether it's meat or anything else in the field of government control," he said.

"I mention this phase of the situation because of the manner in which the administration has abused such powers in the past."

Reece said the Democrats executed such tactics in 1944 when certain ration controls were eased before election, with the explanation that the food situation had improved.

"So what happened? The election was held and the administration was returned to power. Almost immediately thereafter it was alleged that there had been some serious errors in the estimates of our food supplies. Controls were re-established, previous ration point values were reinstated."

Assailing what he termed Mr.
Truman's "radical advisers," the Republican chairman contended that the Democrats—not the Republicans—were to blame for the meat shortage.

Queen Tries to Set Speed Record

SOUTHAMPTON—(AP)—The
85,000-ton Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth, equipped with radar to enable her to maintain full speed through fog, sails for New York today on her maiden commercial voyage during which she will attempt to crack the Atlantic speed record set by her sister ship, the Queen Mary.

With her engines geared to drive her at speeds of 40 to 50 miles an hour, the Elizabeth's skipper, Capt. Sir James Bisset, commander of the Cunard-White Star fleet, hopes to dock her in New York on Saturday to beat the record of three days, 20 hours and 42 minutes set by the Mary.

SOON READY FOR YOUR TABLE—Red beef, the kind you've longed for, hung again today in the W. A. Kearns Packing company plant. Slaughtering of scores of other cattle was under way and, said company officials, beef in quantity would flow to markets before the end of the week. Kearns normally supplies
50 per cent of Mansfield's fresh beef. (News-Journal photo.)

Record Off-Year Vote Forecast In County

A new all-time high in votes in an "off-year" election was predicted today in Richland county for the Nov. 5 election, now only three weeks away.

Despite the absence of presidential candidates on the ballots, estimates of the size of the total vote ranged up to 29,000, only 4,000 under the vote in 1944, a presidential year.

Highest estimate was that of Harry E. Hawley, clerk of the county board of elections, who thought at least 29,000 persons would cast ballots this year.

Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the Republican county executive committee, estimated that the vote would be around 27,000 and Ralph M. Lutz, chairman of the Democratic county executive committee, said he thought some 25-000 to 26,000 electors would vote this year.

Estimates were based partially on the record number of voters of Mansfield and Madison township who are registered this year.
Registrations totaled 22,975, an increase of 462 in Mansfield alone.

Republican hopes of winning the electoral battles were given a boost by the registration figures, which show more voters registered in Republican wards and fewer in the Democratic areas.

In the First, Second and Third wards in Mansfield, traditionally Republican, registrations were up 556. In the other three wards, two of which are heavily Democratic, there was a loss of 94 in registrations, as compared with 1944 figures.

In Madison township precincts, many of which are Democratic, registrations declined.

Principal reasons for expecting a larger vote this year are the presence of special bond issues and tax levies in Mansfield and various subdivisions and a number of lively issues such as the meat shortage, OPA, and foreign policy.

Subscribe Third of Fund Goal

Goal$94,067
Raised$29,741
Needed$64,326

A total of $29,741, or slightly more than 40 per cent of Mansfield's Community Fund goal of $94,067, has been subscribed in the first two days of the campaign, W. E. Sla-baugh, jr., general chairman, reported at noon today.

Industry continued to lead all other divisions in receipts with $6,724 more reported today, hiking the total to $19,484. In the uptown division, the women's group led with $3,040.

Today's receipts from the campaign leaves $64,326 to be collected by the closing day of the drive, Oct. 23.

Receipts in the uptown division amounted to $10,257. In second and third places to the women's division were professions, with $1,872, and retail with $1,345.

UNIT CHAIRMAN GOES OVER TOP

The first unit chairman to go over the top on his goal today so far was W. E. Goode, unit chairman in the professional division, who turned in $385, $35 over his quota of $350.

In charge of soliciting all professional employees in the drive are the Mansfield Life Underwriters, headed by Howard Doner as chairman.

The first 100 per cent unit representative in the public employes division was the Aid for the Aged office. Mrs. Mae Lex, manager of the office, reported that all employees in the office had pledged donations.

End of Meat Famine Causes Near Tragedy

Celebration of the end of OPA restrictions on meat nearly resulted in tragedy for a Mansfield family last night when six-year-old Robert Wiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Wiles, 51 Crestline avenue, choked on a piece of steak.

Mrs. Wiles said today young Robert still was weak, but recovering rapidly.

She said a piece of meat lodged in his lower windpipe, cutting off almost all air to his lungs. He was rushed to the nearest physician, Dr. Lewis A. Smith, 391 Springmill street, who used an instrument to extract the obstruction.

Home Boom Pays Depression Debts

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The real estate boom has enabled the state to speed up liquidation of defunct building and loan associations, often with interest on deposits and profit to stockholders. Commerce Director Robert L. Moulton reported today.

The state division of Building and Loan Associations listed 48 concerns which went broke during the last depression still on its books for liquidation on Jan. 1, 1945.

Thanksgiving Set as Date For Vetsville's Completion

At least seven more Vetsville apartments should be ready for occupancy next week, boosting the total completed units to 15.
James L. Zimmerman, housing official, reported today.

With a slightly brightened labor supply and a greatly improved material supply, Zimmerman said he hoped to have the 75 apartments at Charles Mill lake completed by Thanksgiving.

Meanwhile, County Fair Board
Secretary Orville Kibler said that

NUERNBERG—(AP)—Hermann Goering cheated the hangman with a capsule of cyanide last night but 10 other ringleaders of the punctured Nazi reich died at the end of a rope in the dark hours before dawn today in payment for their crimes against the world.

Goering, pudgy No. 2 man of a Fascist regime intended by Adolf Hitler to last 1,000 years, twitched out his life in a prison cell only a few hours before his condemned henchmen plunged through the banging traps of two gallows in a grimy building 35 yards away.

By his manner of dying, Goering—flamboyant to the last—not only took the last spotlight away from his colleagues but created a breath-taking mystery which had had army intelligence officers laboring in an effort to determine how he got, concealed and took the poison.

The 10 who died on the gallows—as directed by the international military tribunal which convicted them two weeks ago of war crimes, crimes against the peace and crimes against humanity—went to their deaths without collapsing and mouthing "God save Germany" final declarations.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's foreign minister, who replaced Goering as the first man to climb the 13 steps to doom, dropped through the trap at 1:14 a. m. (7:14 p. m. Tuesday EST). An hour and 43 minutes later, when Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Nazi gauleiter of the Netherlands, was pronounced dead, it was all over.

Those who died in between, with Master Sergeant John C. Wood of the U. S. Army—who has presided at 233 executions—springing the trap in some cases, were: Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, head of the Nazi security police; Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi party philosopher; Hans Frank, governor general of Poland; Wilhelm Frick, mayor of Bohemia and Moravia; Julius Streicher, the Jew baiter; Fritz Sauckel, the slave labor boss, and Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl.

Correspondents who witnessed the executions said they did not see any coffins but could hear them being carried out. Several large vans dashed out of the prison yard shortly before daylight, a guard reported, and drove toward Furth, a suburb north of Nuernberg where the army has two large airfields.

After the 10 had been hanged, Goering's corpse was brought into the execution chamber for symbolical execution of the tribunal's sentence.

Kingsbury Smith, representing the combined American press and one of only eight correspondents permitted to enter the brightly lighted gymnasium in the jail yard where the gallows stood, said Seyss-Inquart's body still was dangling from the noose when officers ordered the blanket covering Goering's body removed.

Dies In Agony.
The former reichsmarshal and Luftwaffe commander lay on a stretcher attired in black pajamas and a blue shirt open to expose his chest. Smith said his face bore an agonized expression and that his hair was rumpled. Among the witnesses was Dr. Wilhelm Hoegner, minister president of Bavaria.

When the last body had been cut down, Col. B. C. Andrus, prison commandant, emerged with the first news to the world that Goering had taken his own life.

"Goering was not hanged," Andrus announced, "he committed

REPORT URGES ATOM SLEUTHS

American Delegates Foresee Need of Super-Agency.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A super-agency of inspectors equipped with the latest detection devices known to science; or aerial vigilantes; of bookkeepers and statisticians is going to be needed to keep atomic energy out of the channels of war.

So the American delegation to the UN atomic energy commission declared today in a special report—which warned that "fissionable materials should be guarded with greater care than the most precious stones."

The 57-page report envisioned the unique methods which would be required to prevent hijacking and bootlegging of atomic energy.
If only enough uranium—235 was illicitly diverted to build a single atomic bomb in ten years, that might not be so dangerous, it was stated, but if enough was obtained to build a bomb a year for five years, that "would be disastrous."

So it contemplated agents soar-ing over dense forests in planes seeking to ferret out hidden plants;
others burrowing into mines producing radioactive ores to make sure no "uranium stills" were operating; and guards equipped with Gieger counters—which detect radioactivity—to make sure no plant employee was smuggling uranium out in infinitesimal quantities.

With the funds, AMG will buy raw materials for release to German industry, AMG in turn will buy the finished export goods and sell them on the world market.

OPA WILL LIFT PRICE CEILINGS

Food Lids Likely to Be Off
Before Nov. 5 Elections;
Decontrol Speeded.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—OPA
today drew up plans for the removal of price ceilings on most controlled items and some officials predicted the agency would be well on the way to liquidation
by the end of November.

There were indications that controls on many items, particularly foods, would be lifted before the congressional elections on Nov. 5.

As OPA speeded up its decontrol plans, there were renewed recommendations from administration advisers for an early end to all price and wage curbs.

The Reconversion Office Advisory board, headed by former War
Labor Board Chairman George Taylor, recommended to President Truman the removal of all controls on prices and wages "as soon as possible compatible with our economic security."

The White House said the group made the recommendation during a "routine" meeting with the president. It said the board endorsed Mr. Truman's action in de-controlling meat.

OPA officials were said to believe that the removal of controls on meat placed the agency in an untenable position in trying to maintain ceilings on other food items.

A spokesman pointed out that only about 15 per cent of all food items now remain under control.
He said the lifting of meat ceilings freed about 25 per cent of the food products in the American diet.

Government efforts to bring meat back to the American menu moved ahead with the agriculture department's announcement that the quarantine on importation of Mexican cattle will be lifted at 12:01 a. m., EST, Friday.

DRUG RING HIT

Federal Agents Stop Flow of Mexican Marijuana.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Federal authorities believed today that they had broken the nation's largest marijuana importing ring, which in three years had rolled up a

The United States attorney's office said the drug was obtained from Mexican farms, smuggled across the border, and then mailed to distribution centers, one of the largest of which was Piqua, O.

Warren G. Higgs of Piqua was one of 19 persons named yesterday in 17 federal grand jury indictments charging participation

There Are Two Seas

A PARABLE BY BRUCE BARTON

HERE are two seas in Palestine. One is fresh, and fish are in it. Splashes of green adorn its banks. Trees spread their branches over it, and stretch out their thirsty roots to sip of its healing water. Along its shores the children play.

The River Jordan makes this sea with sparkling water from the hills. So it laughs in the sunshine. And men build their houses near to it, and birds their nests; and every kind of life is happier because it is there.

The River Jordan flows on south into another sea. Here is no splash of fish, no fluttering leaf, no song of birds, no children's laughter. Travellers choose another route, unless on urgent business. The air hangs above its waters and neither men nor beast nor fowl will drink. What makes this mighty difference in these neighbor seas? Not the River Jordan. It empties the same good water into both. Not the soil in which they lie; not the country round about.

This is the difference. The Sea of Galilee receives but does not keep the Jordan. For every drop that flows into it another drop flows out. The giving and receiving go on in equal measure. The other sea is shrewder, hoarding its income jealously. It will not be tempted into any generous impulse. Every drop it gets, it keeps. The Sea of Galilee GIVES AND LIVES. This other sea gives nothing. It is named THE DEAD.

There are two seas in Palestine. There are two kinds of people in the world ...

CARDINALS WIN SIXTH WORLD SERIES

Brecheen's Relieving Saves Finale, 4 to 3

By LEO H. PETERSEN, UP Sports Editor.

ST. LOUIS—They added another world series pennant to the St. Louis Cardinals' baseball flagpole today and this one, the sixth that has come to the Redbirds, was the best of them all.

For it came the hard way in one of the most dramatic seven-game series in major league history. The boys who weren't supposed to win did, and the fellows who figured to take the championship were on the outside looking in.

Those fellows were the Boston Red Sox and they lost their chance for baseball glory because one of them didn't have it when the chips were down. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, Harry Walker and Mike Gonzales, of the Cardinals, were the heroes, but they couldn't have won if it hadn't been for the Sox's Shortstop Johnny Pesky.

As things turned out, he was the goat of the series along with the heralded Ted Williams. The difference was that Pesky cost the Red Sox the championship on an error of commission. Williams just didn't live up to advance billing, for he got only six hits in the series.

Pesky's mistake was responsible for the Cardinals' winning the seventh and deciding game yesterday 4 to 3. A key figure in Boston's drive to the pennant, he became the goat in their loss of the series.

Erratic in the field although he lived up to his name at bat, Pesky failed to get rid of the ball quickly enough in the eighth inning, allowing Enos (Country) Slaughter to score with the winning run.

The Red Sox had come up in their half of the eighth to tie the score and drive little Murry Dickson from the mound. But in doing so, Manager Joe Cronin had to pinch hit for his pitcher and brought Bob Klinger, who wasn't good enough to hold on with the last place Pittsburgh Pirates, to the hill.

Facing a team he knew well—for the Cardinals were mighty rough on him during his stay in the National league—Klinger yielded a single to Slaughter to open the Cardinal eighth. It looked as if he would work out of that trouble when he retired George (Whitey) Kurovski on a pop fly and Catcher Del Rice on a fly ball. But then Walker, who turned out to be the big gun for the Cards, stepped to the plate, caught hold of one of Klinger's fast balls and drove it into center-field for a hit.

It looked like an ordinary single. It turned out to be a double and the ball game.

Leon Culberson, playing center field in place of Dom DiMaggio, who pulled up lame after banging the double which had brought the Red Sox from behind in the eighth, came in fast to pick up the ball and rifle it to Pesky on the out-field grass. Pesky, not thinking that Slaughter would try to score on the hit, held the ball until he saw the Cardinal outfielder speeding for home.

He let go then with a desperate peg which was wide of the plate as Slaughter crossed with the run that gave the Cards the series. A good throw would have had Slaughter by feet and had not Pesky held the ball Slaughter would have been out by yards.

While that throw was being made, Walker galloped into second so he was credited with a double.

As it happened, Gonzales, the third base coach who had been under fire for the way he had been directing traffic on the bases, also played a major role. He waved Slaughter on when probably every other coach in baseball would have held him up. But this time it turned out to be the right thing to do, so instead of being a goat he was a hero.

There was plenty of honor, too, for Brecheen, the first pitcher since 1920 to win three games in a world series. Coming in in the eighth inning when Dickson faltered, he saved the day for the Cardinals.

Dick Alexander Signs to Meet Johnny Bryant In Armory Ring

Dick Alexander, who is rapidly climbing the ladder to fistic success, gets a chance to take a big step towards his goal next Wednesday night in the Mansfield Armory.

Promoters Rex Reese and Sam Miller have signed the hard-hitting welterweight for the feature bout on their seventh local show. Alexander kayode Walter Mitchell in the first round of the last Mansfield show two weeks ago.

The former Golden Gloves and Diamond Belt champion has won five straight decisions in the Armory ring. Alexander's professional record stands at six victories and one draw. He had two "money" fights on the west coast before returning to Mansfield after his navy discharge.

Johnny Bryant, highly-touted puncher from Massillon, has been signed to meet Alexander in one of the double main-go matches. Both main events will go eight rounds.

Bryant has won seven straight pro fights via the knockout route since his discharge. Only one of the seven victims got beyond the fifth round. Joe Schmidt went nine chapters before Bryant cooled him.

A couple of fast featherweights—Wally Barkley and Lefty Lou Williams—have been matched in the other half of the main event. Barkley, Massillon, 124-pounder, who has lost only one decision in the last two years, copped a close decision from Williams in a previous battle.

Joe Brown, Lakeville light-heavy, meets Kid Esmont of Canton in the six-round semi-final with Smiling Red Beckhold of Mt. Vernon colliding with Jackie Small of Massillon in one of the four-round melees.

Phil Scott, Marion, has been signed for the curtain raiser although Reese and Miller have not selected his opponent.

St. Louis and Boston Split World Series Players' Pool

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—Each member of the St. Louis National League club will receive $3,757.40 for winning the World Series.

The Boston Red Sox team members will receive $2,052.03 each as the losers' share. The money will come from the players' pool of the series. The players share in only the first four games.

American Legion Honors Junior Baseball Team

Mansfield American Legion Post 16 honors its junior American Legion baseball team at a banquet tonight along with its regular meeting.

Under the managership of Coach Dewey Durant the Legion baseballers won the fifth district championship. Refreshments and entertainment for the moundsmen is being planned and furnished by the 40 et 8.

Wildcats Battle Comets Tomorrow

NEW LONDON—New London and Amherst tangle Thursday night under the new lights at Amherst in a bid for the first 1936 victory for either school.

New London's Wildcats are slightly favored over the Comets according to the statistics compiled by both football aggregations this past season.

The game, originally scheduled for Friday night, was moved up due to the inability to secure officials satisfactory to both teams.

Cleveland Barons Romp Over Philadelphia, 9-5

The Cleveland Barons, tied with New Haven and Hershey after opening night victories, traveled to St. Louis today for their second game in the 1946-47 American Hockey league season.

Cleveland's flock of rookies paced the Barons to a 9 to 5 romp over the Philadelphia Rockets at the Cleveland arena last night. The Barons took a 4 to 1 first period lead, racked up three more tallies in the second and added another pair as a finisher in the last.

Johnny Appleseed Plays Mt. Vernon

Johnny Appleseed invades Mt. Vernon tomorrow afternoon to face a strong Yellow Jacket junior high school football aggregation.

Coach Norm Henline's Pioneers are undefeated this season although Willard held them to a scoreless tie. With the exception of Kenny Sauder, 215 pound tackle, who will be out of the line-up the rest of the season due to a broken leg, Henline's eleven are in good physical condition.

Appleseed defeated Ashland 6 to 0, last Thursday afternoon.

Tygers Entertain Ashland

Coach Harry Meheok's Mansfield Tyger cross country team entertain Ashland tomorrow afternoon at Coolridge golf course at 4 o'clock. The Bengals will be after their sixth consecutive victory, and the second over Ashland this season.

TAKE A DEMONSTRATION RIDE ON TOMORROW'S GREAT NEW PREMIUM TIRE

U.S. ROYAL Air Ride

If you drive a car, you should discover what it means to ride on the new U. S. Royal Air Ride Tire.

And you can do just that—today! Although the Air Ride has not yet been released for sale, your U. S. Tire Dealer is waiting now to take you for a demonstration ride in an Air Ride-equipped car.

... waiting to let you experience an entirely new and thrilling kind of tire performance!

You're riding on more air—a substantially bigger, noticeably softer air cushion. But that's only the beginning. The Air Ride is a magnificently balanced tire—swift, nimble, "light on its feet"—responsive to your slightest touch on the steering wheel.

Try a sudden stop. The Air Ride stops fast! For it has the exclusive U. S. Royal Brake Action Tread—with literally thousands of sure-gripping, self-acting tread surfaces to wipe away road film and bring you to a safe, straight-line stop.

There never has been a tire like this before. Building the Air Ride requires new molds, new machinery, new methods—but we hope it won't be too long before the Air Ride is offered for regular sale.

See your U. S. Tire Dealer today—actually ride on this dramatically different premium tire—swift, nimble, "light on its feet"—responsive to your slightest touch on the steering wheel.

TYGERS WORK HARD; BIG PEP RALLY SET

Coach Paul Snyder's undefeated Mansfield Senior high school Tygers are hard at work for their toughest test of the season Friday night when they meet the high-riding Washington high Tygers of Massillon at Stadium field.

Working behind closed doors the Tygers got a look at the vaunted Massillon attack last night. The seconds, armed with Tiger plays, exhibited the Massillon T and single-wing formations which feature the antics of Letterman Dan Byelene and Gene Zorger.

Byelene works well from the T formation and throws an accurate pass while Zorger is the Tiger ball-carrying ace. Snyder is putting his charges through an offensive scrimmage this afternoon and will taper off with a light workout tomorrow.

Massillon has 17 lettermen on its 1946 team, which has won three and lost one. The Tygers dropped their opener to Cleveland Cathedral Latin, state's No. 1 club, 14-7 and then rolled over Canton Lincoln, 29-0; Steubenville, 13-6 and Alliance, 19-0.

Weekly INS scholastic poll rates Snyder's team in second place and Massillon in sixth. Last season Massillon atomic blasted the Tygers 41 to 6 but Friday's battle rates strictly in the toss-up class.

The Tygers got pretty well banged up in beating Springfield last week but Snyder's regulars will be ready for the Tygers.

The Tyger booster club has a big pep program all set to go tomorrow night at the high school and the public is welcome. The first section of the show will go on in the auditorium at 7-15 with the outdoor portion getting underway at 8:15.

There Are Two Seas

A PARABLE BY BRUCE BARTON

HERE are two seas in Palestine. One is fresh, and fish are in it. Splashes of green adorn its banks. Trees spread their branches over it, and stretch out their thirsty roots to sip of its healing water. Along its shores the children play.

The River Jordan makes this sea with sparkling water from the hills. So it laughs in the sunshine. And men build their houses near to it, and birds their nests; and every kind of life is happier because it is there.

The River Jordan flows on south into another sea. Here is no splash of fish, no fluttering leaf, no song of birds, no children's laughter. Travellers choose another route, unless on urgent business. The air hangs above its waters and neither men nor beast nor fowl will drink. What makes this mighty difference in these neighbor seas? Not the River Jordan. It empties the same good water into both. Not the soil in which they lie; not the country round about.

This is the difference. The Sea of Galilee receives but does not keep the Jordan. For every drop that flows into it another drop flows out. The giving and receiving go on in equal measure. The other sea is shrewder, hoarding its income jealously. It will not be tempted into any generous impulse. Every drop it gets, it keeps. The Sea of Galilee GIVES AND LIVES. This other sea gives nothing. It is named THE DEAD.

There are two seas in Palestine. There are two kinds of people in the world...

NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

180 Attend Gallion Legion's Dinner.

GALLION — Dinner for approximately 180 preceded the installation of new officers of Scarbrough post, The American Legion, Monday night, at the legion home.

Harry Eaton of Ashland, past commander of Ohio, was the installing officer. The new officers of the post are: commander, Fred Zoller; first vice commander, Clayton Howman; second vice commander, Billy Snyder; adjutant, Marion Kinnaman; finance officer, Gilbert Plack; chaplain, Leslie Crissinger; post historian, L. M. McGuire; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Johnston; assistant sergeant-at-arms, Avery Scott and executive member for five years, E. J. Boyer.

The speaker for the meeting was Aaron J. Halloran of Springfield, department vice commander of the Ohio legion. He gave the objectives of the American Legion in an inspiring message.

During the evening's program, Ed Rehm, out-going commander of the local post, spoke briefly. He was presented with a gold-studded 40 et 8 pin. A similar pin was presented to Gilbert Plack of the post.

Charles Wood, Seamless Tube Pioneer, Dies

SHELBY—Funeral services for Charles H. Wood, 80, former vice president and sales manager of the Ohio Seamless Tube company, who died in the Memorial hospital here yesterday afternoon after a week's illness will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. at the Barkdull funeral home.

Mr. Wood was a pioneer in the industry becoming interested in it through his youthful hobby of bicycle racing. Later he sold bicycles and then went into the manufacturing end of the vehicles made from seamless tubing.

He was superintendent of early mills in Chicago and Detroit and became Chicago sales manager for the National Tube company and later in its Pittsburgh headquarters. He came here from Pittsburgh in 1920 and retired in 1935.

Mr. Wood was an associate of Mark Twain, the writer, in his typesetting enterprise. As a typesetter on the Hartford, Conn. Courant, in the city where Twain lived, Wood became interested in the production end of newspapering.

Wood demonstrated the Col Page typesetting machine of which Twain was a backer, at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893, where it was hailed as a marvel of the age.

Two sons, Wilfred R. district manager in Chicago for Ohio Seamless Tube and Harold S. vice president of Oberlin college, and a daughter, Mrs. Woodburn Armstrong of Shelby, survive.

The Rev. Darwin Haynes, pastor of the Presbyterian church will officiate at services, and burial will be made in the Oakland cemetery.

Charles Wood, Seamless Tube Pioneer, Dies

SHELBY—Funeral services for Charles H. Wood, 80, former vice president and sales manager of the Ohio Seamless Tube company, who died in the Memorial hospital here yesterday afternoon after a week's illness will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. at the Barkdull funeral home.

Mr. Wood was a pioneer in the industry becoming interested in it through his youthful hobby of bicycle racing. Later he sold bicycles and then went into the manufacturing end of the vehicles made from seamless tubing.

He was superintendent of early mills in Chicago and Detroit and became Chicago sales manager for the National Tube company and later in its Pittsburgh headquarters. He came here from Pittsburgh in 1920 and retired in 1935.

Mr. Wood was an associate of Mark Twain, the writer, in his typesetting enterprise. As a typesetter on the Hartford, Conn. Courant, in the city where Twain lived, Wood became interested in the production end of newspapering.

Wood demonstrated the Col Page typesetting machine of which Twain was a backer, at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893, where it was hailed as a marvel of the age.

Two sons, Wilfred R. district manager in Chicago for Ohio Seamless Tube and Harold S. vice president of Oberlin college, and a daughter, Mrs. Woodburn Armstrong of Shelby, survive.

The Rev. Darwin Haynes, pastor of the Presbyterian church will officiate at services, and burial will be made in the Oakland cemetery.

KEITH A. CROENWETT

GALLION — Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home for Keith Allen Croenwett, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior C. Croenwett of 439 Sherman street. The baby was stillborn at City hospital, Monday at 10 p. m.

Rev. William J. Kiloran of St. Patrick's Catholic church officiated for services, and burial was made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Surviving are the parents, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Croenwett of Gallion. The mother is the former Rose Mary Wurm.

Nazis Go To Gallows; Goering Takes Poison

suicide at 10:45 p. m. (4:45 p. m. EST Tuesday) last night by taking cyanide of potassium."
"He was discovered at once by the sentinel who watched and heard him make an odd noise and twitch. The sentinel called the doctor and chaplain who were in the corridor and who found him dying."

"There were pieces of glass in his mouth and an odor of cyanide of potassium on his breath."

"Goering's hands did not go beneath the blankets and were not observed to go to his mouth. An investigation is now going on to learn how he could conceal the poison when he was subject to daily and rigorous searches, both of his clothes and his person. The cyanide was contained in a small cartridge case similar to those found before on other Nazis and like the one found on him a year ago last May at Mondorf prison. At that time it was hidden in a case of Nescafe."

Leaves Messages.
French Correspondent Louis de Roche said in his account that an opened envelope was found on Goering's corpse. It contained three messages written in pencil, one of which was addressed to Col. Andrus.

The poison Goering took was contained in a copper tube made of an old carter.

Goering never heard his death sentence read to him as did the others shortly before they died. Col. Andrus was on his way to Goering's cell when the last act of Goering's life was taking place inside the jail. Andrus continued about his grim task, however, completing the reading of the conviction and sentence to each man at 11:54 p. m.

A little while later the march to the gallows began.

In the gymnasium, where only last Saturday guards had played a basketball game, stood three scaffolds, only two of which were used. Arthur Gaeth, representing the combined American radio networks, said each scaffold had the customary 13 steps to the top and each rope the customary 13 coils.

Executions Rapid.
The executions were carried out with machine-like precision. While one man hung from one gallows, his body concealed inside the structure of the scaffold, another man was brought in.
Every one of the 10 men approached death bravely once he entered the room and saw the grim appearances of the hangmen. Some quailed and approached hysteria before they entered. Sauckel refused to dress at first and screamed at the top of his voice when soldiers handcuffed him.

CATTLE, HOGS START FLOWING TO MARKETS

Witnesses described the last moment of the other men as follows: Kaltenbrunner, dueling scars on his cheeks shining blood red in the glaring light, declared, "I have loved my German people and my fatherland with a warm heart. I have done my duty by the laws of my people and I am sorry my people were led this time by men who were not soldiers and that crimes were committed of which I had no knowledge." His last words were a German phrase meaning, "Germany, good luck."

Frank, who entered with a smile on his face, whispered his last words: "I am thankful for the kind treatment during my captivity and I ask God to accept me with mercy."

Fruck, inconspicuously attired in a gaudy sports jacket, stumbled on the last of the 13 steps up the gallows, but recovered. His final words were: "Long live eternal Germany."

Sauckel, who was reported by one correspondent to have shouted, "I pay my respects to American soldiers and officers but not to American Jews" in his first fright before reaching the execution chamber, went to his death bravely, crying at the end: "May God protect Germany and my family."

Jodl, his face flushed and his eyes red, paid his final bill with the words: "I salute you, my Germany."

Seys-Inquart, whose glasses were removed as the executioner slipped the noose over his head, said, in his quiet, scholarly way, "I hope that this execution is the last act of the tragedy of the second World war and that a lesson will be learned so that peace and understanding will be realized among the nations I believe in Germany."

All of the men were tied hand and foot as they made their last drop and each one was escorted to the gallows by a soldier at each elbow.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag every time you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

VERDICT NEAR IN BRIGGS TRIAL

Berry Patch Slaying Case Soon Ready For Jury.

ASHLAND—The defense called character witnesses today to support efforts to acquit Charles E. Briggs, Lake township farmer, on a charge of manslaughter in the July 31 berry patch slaying of Mrs. Mabel McKinley, 26-year-old mother of three.

The state had completed its case and the jury was expected to receive the case late today.

Roger McKinley, husband of the slain woman, and Ben McKinley, his father, related yesterday events preceding the slaying. Other prosecution witnesses included Al Timmer of Mansfield, son-in-law of Mrs. McKinley, and Dr. A. D. Lewis who said the woman died 15 minutes after being brought to his office by Ben McKinley.

SPEAKER TELLS RESEARCH NEED

'Still Much to Be Done For Crippled,' Says Underwood.

The need for more research into methods of aiding crippled children was explained yesterday by Walter Underwood, executive director of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children.

Speaking before the Rotary club at its luncheon meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Underwood said, "much has been accomplished, but there is still a lot more to be done."

Specifically, Underwood advocated more interest and research into the problems of cerebral palsy, epilepsy, and rheumatic fever. Cerebral palsy, Underwood pointed out, is a rival of infantile paralysis and needs the same attention.

He advocated a custodial institution for the care of the crippled who with all the care possible have not been able to become self-supporting.

The growth of organized interest in the care and treatment of crippled children in Ohio, and in the nation, was traced by Underwood from its inception with a Rotary club resolution in 1919.

Cautioning against too much reliance on federal funds, Underwood said, "Federal funds should be used to supplement local funds, not to supplant them. The proper philosophy for treatment is to establish the facilities for treating the children as near their homes as possible."

W. C. Mead, program chairman, introduced Underwood.

Rocket Researchers to Try For 200-Mile Altitude.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army rocket researchers are aiming at a 200-mile altitude mark as one big step toward developing guided missiles approaching transoceanic range.

Ordinance experts made this comment to a reporter today in discussing Secretary of War Patterson's statement last week that a rocket with a range far exceeding the best the Germans could turn out is "a probability in a matter of months."

The experts disclaimed knowledge however, of what specific development Patterson might have had in mind when he made the cryptic reference in his Chicago speech.

Box Office Sale of 'Carmen Jones' Tickets Opens at Ohio

Box office sale of tickets for "Carmen Jones," Oct. 21, opened last night at the Ohio theater after a record-breaking advance mail order sale by the Mansfield Shrine club, sponsor of the musical show.

The Billy Rose production, re-styled from the original opera by Oscar Hammerstein II, will play a one-night engagement at the Ohio theater. Alternates in the title role of Carmen are Muriel Smith and Audrey Vanterpool.

Officers of the club said that the advance two-weeks' ticket sale has brought in ticket requests from neighboring towns as well as from Mansfielders. Prices range from $1.90 to $4.35. Officers said that desirable seats are still available.

The all-colored cast of 125 actors will present the opera score, unaltered from the classic. Choral arrangements are under the direction of Robert Shaw, and the augmented orchestra will be headed by Tibor Kozma.

Hammerstein has retained the framework of the original story but changed the locale from a cigar factory in Spain to a war plant in the United States. Carmen becomes a war worker, and Don Jose becomes Joe, a GI corporal.

Only "missing part" in the presentation will be the recitative passages, which were written for the opera following Bizet's death.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENT
Sealed bids will be received by the Service-Safety Director of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, at his office in the City Hall, until 12 o'clock, noon, E. S. T., October 31, 1946, for the improvement of the Municipal Building by repairing the roof.

Bids are to be submitted in letter form and must include full specifications of the materials to be used, manner of construction, time and starting and completion of the work and any other information pertinent to the work to be done.

The awarding of the contract for this work shall be judged on the best bid submitted for this work, character and kind of materials, manner of construction, etc. Each bid must contain the full name or names of the party or parties interested therein and be accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank and made payable to the Service-Safety Director of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the sum of Fifty Dollars ($50.00), as security that if the bid is accepted a contract will be entered into.

No bid will be entertained unless it is delivered at the office of the Service-Safety Director prior to the time specified. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

AIDS GALION FUND DRIVE

Mansfield Group Helps Get Campaign Started.

In the midst of its annual campaign, Mansfield's Community Fund has offered to be a "good neighbor" to Galion which will launch its first Community Fund drive this fall.

Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary of the local Fund organization, said today that she was asked by the organizers of the Galion Fund drive to help with the campaign which will open Nov. 5 under the direction of Russell L. Post.

Campaign goal of the Galion Community Fund is $12,000 which will be divided among five agencies, nursery school, Community center, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and USO.

Mrs. Williams said that she will offer suggestions to the new organization at a series of conferences to be held during the rest of this month. She added that the Galion campaign will be patterned after Mansfield's.

Aggressive Warfare Now Capital Crime

INSOFAR as this column is concerned, no jubilation will be expressed over the fate of those Nazi leaders who were put to ignominious death on the gallows in Nuernberg prison last night. Nor will there be on this page any greswome cartoon showing a limp body hanging in midair, or an imaginative sketch of Satan welcoming new arrivals to his domain—as some cartoonists have attempted to depict.

The mystery surrounding life and death is too impenetrable to be subjected to fallible human judgment, and the lives of men run in such strange channels that adverse criticism ill becomes those who condemn faults in others without admitting their own shortcomings.

From what we regard as a "civilized" viewpoint, the acts committed by those ten men who were executed at Nuernberg—and the one who preferred to meet death at his own hands—were extremes of barbarism—yet the whole history of wars between nations has been one of vicious destruction and wanton slaughter.

There is a present hope that, perhaps, peoples of the world have reached higher ground in their attitude toward the aggressive warfare which was long accepted as essential to conquest, exploitation, and spread of favored ideologies.

Organization of the United Nations and assumption of authority to determine war guilt, as was done by the international war crimes tribunal in Nuernberg, points the way to abandonment of the idea that "might makes right," which has prevailed through the centuries as a hitherto unavoidable cause of war.

Capital punishment, as inflicted upon those chief Nazis, is a highly controversial subject, with a considerable body of opinion aligned on each side. Advancing civilization has steadily reduced the number of offenses deemed deserving of the death penalty, and in some states in this country it has been banned entirely.

Now, rather than being regarded as punishment—for who knows whether death is punishment—execution of a criminal for murder, or other heinous offense, is looked upon as extermination of a vicious animal that has shown itself unfit for human association—and it is in this light that putting an abrupt end to the life-span of those Nazi leaders who instigated the killing of millions of innocent people may be regarded as fully justified.

Business Women's Inspiring Theme

IT IS gratifying to note, in connection with annual observance of National Business Women's week, that the 1946 theme of this praiseworthy organization is "Let's Work Together for Better Communities," as this fits in very appropriately with a recognized need in Mansfield as well as in many other cities which have not yet recovered from a wartime lag in meeting a variety of civic needs.

It is pointed out that this week of special emphasis on the work of Business and Professional Women's clubs serves the double purpose of launching the new club year and also tends to direct public notice to the contribution which business and professional women are making to our life and times.

There are now 1,760 clubs in 49 state federations, the District of Columbia and Hawaii, and the Mansfield unit includes membership of more than one hundred business and professional women who are participating in local observance of the week.

Commenting on the federation's theme for the year, President Truman said: "After all, our nation is made up of a myriad of communities, great and small, and the business and professional women of America are the logical vanguard of any program which deals with housing, public education, public health and full employment. Any sound approach to full employment means no discrimination—the doors must be kept open for women to exercise the many new skills which they have developed in wartime."

An expressed intention of the organization is to become a part of the permanent army of volunteers working steadily to improve the American way of life for all people and "to set an example here at home which will be noted and emulated by men and women of goodwill everywhere."

For actual accomplishments, however, more is needed than individual effort and the activity of any one club group—there is need for co-operation and co-ordinated action by all women's and men's clubs, various civic organizations, fraternal and church groups, and the like, so that an effective, unified voice may be heard above the quiet pressure of a minority that sometimes circumvents the aims of a complacent majority.

Mansfield offers a fine field of opportunity for further display of the same kind of community spirit that has gained topmost place in the nation in Chamber of Commerce membership in cities up to 50,000 in population—which constitutes a challenge to all Mansfielders to look about for other opportunities for betterment—as, for instance, the littered streets in the business area; the rundown appearance of some sections; inattention to places that are greatly in need of paint—including many disreputable looking signs, with emphasis on the neglected markers at street intersections, the majority of which have become unreadable.

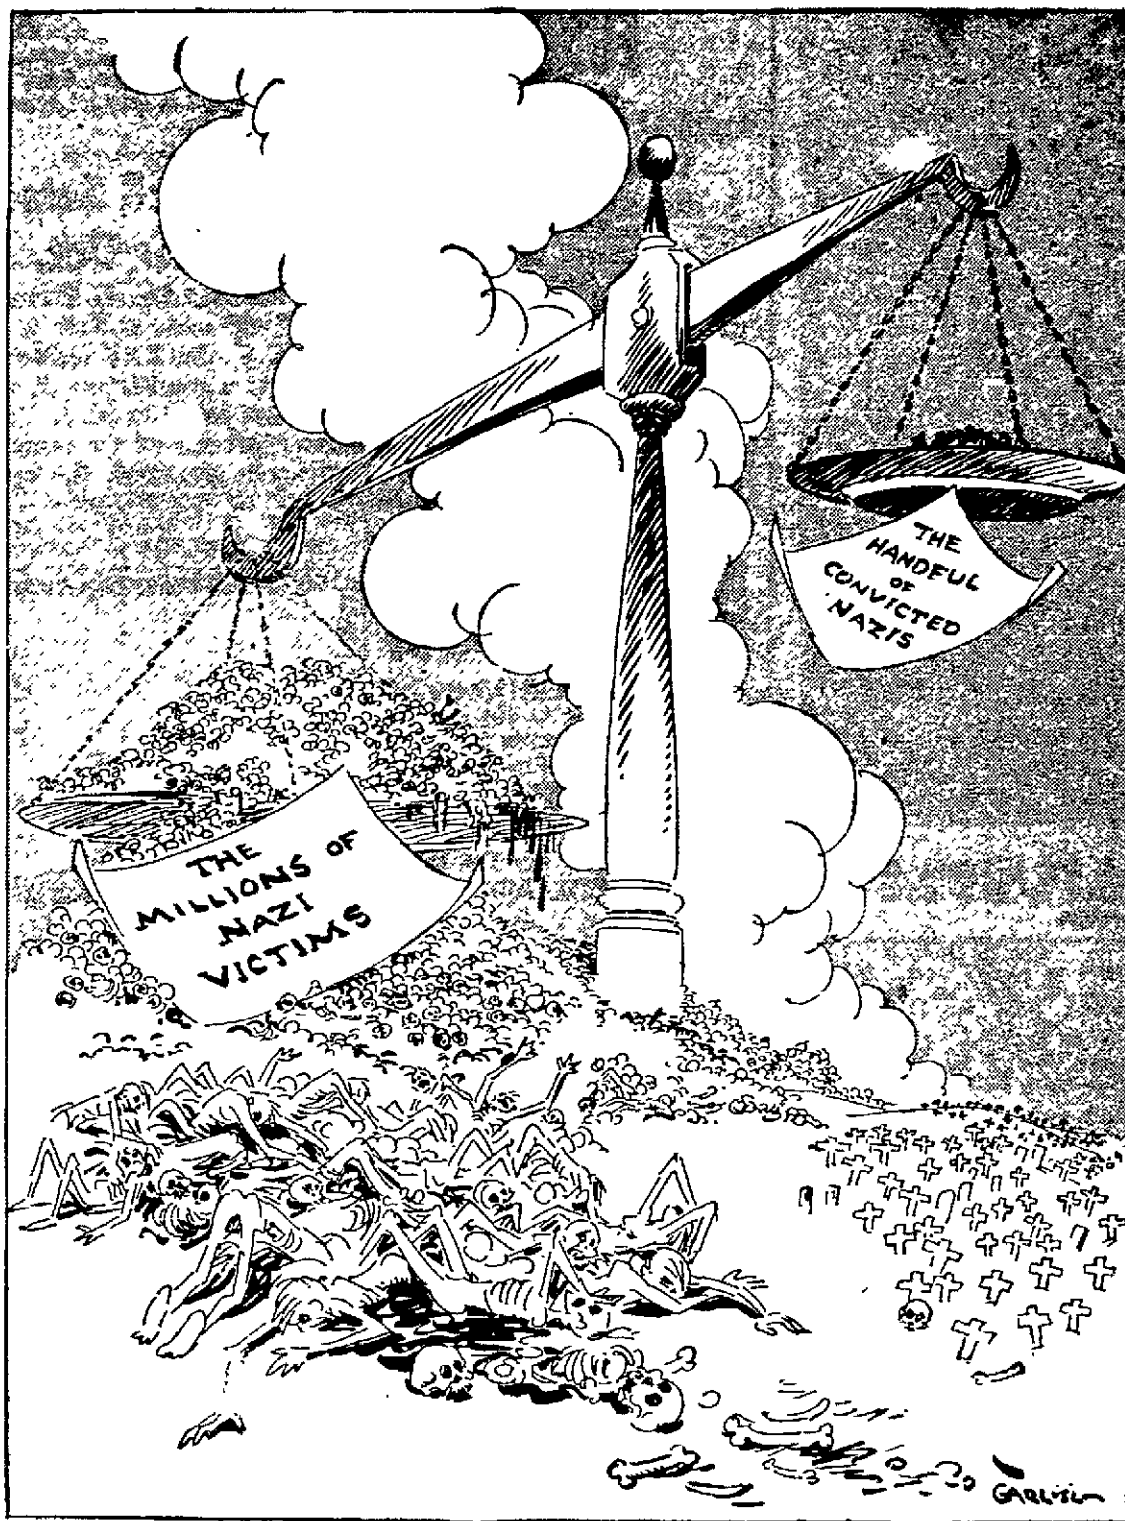

Something in the way of a comprehensive survey of Mansfield's needs, from the various viewpoints of individuals and interested groups, would seem to be a logical first step toward community betterment, and it would appear that the Business and Professional Women's club, with co-operation that may be anticipated, might well provide a local demonstration of practicability of the theme: "Let's Work Together for Better Communities."

Peace Evades Paris Conference

WINDUP of the Paris "peace" conference in a spirit of acrimony and dissension tends to emphasize the difficulties being encountered in what must be regarded as a sincere effort to find a basis for agreement on differences that might lead to another world war.

The Paris parley opened July 29 and the split between the Russian dominated Slavic bloc and the Western allies threatens to nullify the weeks of work given to an unsuccessful attempt to settle points of dispute having to do with the future of Europe—and of the whole world, for that matter.

Activities of the Big Four are now to be transferred to New York, with opening of the Foreign Ministers Council scheduled for November 4.

Taxpayers Required To 'Foot Bill' Of Cattlemen's Sit-Down Strike

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It wasn't publicized, but at the last session of congress, the big western cattle-men now withholding meat from the public also forced the American taxpayer to continue footing a large part of the bill for feeding the western cattle which he cannot now eat.

About 145,000,000 acres of public land in the western states are open to ranchers under the U. S. grazing service.

Ranchers are permitted to turn their herds loose on the public lands for nearly the entire year at a cost of only five cents per head per month for cattle and one cent per head per month for sheep.

The grazing service, with a force of only 400 men and a budget of a little over $1,000,000, has done a valiant job of fighting erosion, keeping water available for vegetation and seeing to it that the land is in good condition for grazing.

Total yearly rentals amount to about $850,000, with half going to the states in lieu of taxes, and one quarter to improvements on the land. Thus, the taxpayer has to pay the remaining four-fifths of the cost of keeping the range in shape for the big cattlemen.

To offset this deficit, grazing service officials have been trying to raise the rental. Private and state lands, they point out, rent at from three to eight times as much. The American people, they argue, should be permitted at least to break even on their public lands.

At this point, Senator "Heigh-Ho Silver" McCarran of Nevada came riding to the rescue. McCarran, a member of the senate's public lands committee as well as of the powerful appropriations committee, always sides with the big cattlemen and silver miners. So he rigged an investigating trip through the west, and issued a report disapproving any increase in the grazing fees.

Meanwhile, the grazing service got pinched from the opposite direction. Congressman Jed Johnson of Oklahoma—where the grazing service has few lands—decided that the service should be put on a self-sustaining basis. Unless the fees were raised, he held, the grazing service budget would be curtailed.

This now has happened. Coming on top of the meat strike, this may be just the thing to convince the grazing service that now is the time to increase grazing fees despite the threats of Senator McCarran. Already they have discussed the matter with Secretary of the Interior Krug, who feels that, since cattle-men are keeping their stock on the range instead of sending it to market, they should at least pay a reasonable price for the privilege of using the public lands for a sit-down strike.

Harry Truman's Press.

If Harry Truman could place an ad in the papers, probably it would read something like this: "WANTED—Good press secretary: willing to work long hours; must be practicing newspaperman, not afraid to say 'no.' Low salary, but private car and plenty of prestige. Call National 1414 or write H. S. T., 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C."

There are few weaker spots in the White House staff than Truman's press aides. Venerable Charlie Ross, the president's secretary, simply isn't filling the bill. Personally one of the finest gentlemen in Washington, Ross is by nature an introvert; doesn't get around much, is a poor spot-news reporter and a complete failure as a press agent.

Newsmen who cover the White House sometimes are genuinely alarmed at Ross' ineptitude. They claim he doesn't read the newspapers regularly, doesn't even keep up with the White House directives.

Frequently, White House newsmen have asked about stories which were on the front page of the morning paper, but Charlie shows he simply has not read the papers.

By and large, the White House gang had no great love for Roosevelt's press secretary, Steve Early. Steve was tough, excitable, and a veritable hell-on-wheels when he got mad. But nobody could deny that Early was a crack-jack newspaperman and a whizz-bang press agent. He knew a story when he saw one, also knew how to develop the type of news which would help his boss along.

Ross, on the other hand, frequently knocks down stories that members of the administration float as trial balloons to help the president, sometimes finds himself embarrassed to find out that these trial balloons were accurate. Cold fact is that Ross idolizes Truman too much for their mutual good. Roosevelt was supposed to have been a much stronger man than Truman. But his aides criticized him more to his face than do Truman's advisers.

What the White House brain trust doesn't realize is that Truman takes constructive criticism well. But, for some reason, perhaps because they feel insecure, his staff hesitates to give it to him.

Fragment of An Old Newspaper Reveals Early-Day Enterprise

DISCOLORED by age, there comes to this desk a fragment of newspaper which has withstood the ravages of more than a century—it was torn from a copy of the Mansfield Shield & Banner, then a weekly paper of which Meredith & Maxwell were the publishers and J. B. Cairns, editor. The date is May, 1839.

Wrapped around an old deed, the ancient sheet was brought to the office of George P. Gong'er, Ashland attorney, a few days ago.

It is interesting to note that current interest then attached to the fact that: "The proprietor of this newspaper, at much expense, has procured and put into operation, a new press and new type; all of superior quality"—going to show that even at that early date it was the aspiration of Mansfield's newspaper to give the best possible service.

Then too, there is the interesting advertisement of "Dr. Evans' Celebrated Genuine, Vegetable Anti-Dyspeptic Pills," recommended for the cure of a long list of ailments, including "cold feet," which drew the comment from a present-day reader "it prevention of cold feet should result in lively demand for the remedy nowadays."

It is also noticed that the "card" customarily carried by lawyers in those days, announced the location of one lawyer's office as "nearly opposite Wiler's tavern," thus

Strike-Bound Hotels Produce Odd Stories.

WASHINGTON — Like perhaps no other city in the country, Washington is a hotel-conscious community.

Nightly, there is a small city (more than 10,000) of hotel residents registered within the larger city which makes up the nation's capital.

That small city includes kings and common laborers, visiting prime ministers and presidents, transient and semi-permanent ambassadors and athletes, lawmakers, lobbyists and lads and ladies of leisure.

While many are merely temporary guests, many others are not. Because of choice or necessity, they live more or less permanently in hotel suites or apartments.

Much of the nation's business transpires in Washington's hotel rooms—for that matter, much of the world's business. So do poker games with participants who sometimes include some of the highest executives in the land.

Because of the peculiar emphasis placed on hotel life within the capital, almost every type of service essential to livelihood is made available inside many Washington hostleries.

Obviously, you can be fed and housed in any hotel. Here you also can be born (with the house doctor in attendance), you can be clothed by the house tailor, fed during infancy by the house dietitian, educated by tutors imported to the hotel, winned from the house cellar, coiffed or clipped by the house beautician or barber, exercise in the hotel pool or gymnasium under care of the house athletic director, be married by one of the varied clergymen on call by the house, conduct your business with the aid of the house stenographer, die and be buried in ceremonies from one of the hotel's large assembly rooms.

As a matter of fact, there are men who have been kingpins in the country's government for two generations who have never had any Washington address except a hotel room.

Thus it would appear obvious that the Washington hotel service strike which broke during the weekend brought about some curious situations.

For instance, look at the people who have been having to make their own beds for several days. They include a brother of the president — not to mention his cousin, Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Truman, who, when this reporter knew him as a colonel in the 84th division, didn't even have to make his own bed during the Belgian Bulge!

Then there are such personages as the Countess Waldeck of Belgium, the Baroness Evan Panhughes of the Netherlands, M. D. Rani of Bombay, India, and Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia.

Also making their own beds and cleaning up their own rooms were members of the various collegiate and professional football teams which played engagements in this vicinity during the weekend. They, however, generally were weary enough not to notice the wrinkles when they finally lay down to sleep.

Then there was the ethics situation. Many of the other establishments within the hotels were not involved in the strike in any way. Nevertheless, they soon became deeply involved.

The manager of one hotel's beauty shop which catered largely to an outside clientele asked the union leaders if it was okay to continue primping the ladies' hair during the strike.

Union bosses said sure it was okay as long as the shop confined its business to the outside trade—but the pacing pickets didn't know the okay had been given. Hence, many a labor-loving lady arrived for her Saturday afternoon frizz-job somewhat ruffled because the pickets outside objected and accused her of "crossing a line."

At least two wives of known labor leaders were heard to explode angrily about "that bunch of agitators outside!" Tsk, tsks!

Also, several labor-leading legislators, executives and lobbyists were forced to (you might phrase it) lie in their own beds after having made them.

And at least one out-of-town union boss who came here for the sole purpose of lending moral support to the strike suddenly found himself stymied when he tried to put in a long-distance phone call. Sympathetic union operators were voiding such calls from struck hotels.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THIS is National Letter Writing week and I hear that quite a few are going to the White House addressed "To Whom It May Concern."

But National Letter Writing week is not to be taken as a hint to any cabinet officer. . . . Those who were invited to write resignations have written.

Anyhow Harvard is now admitting children under five to meet the challenge of Columbia which has a 12-year-old freshman. Look for ads in the Boston papers reading, "Harvard man will trade set of building blocks for tricycle."

If the trend in colleges toward lowering the age limit continues, we're going to have toddlers romping around here with their degrees "magna cum laundry."

Reducing Big Problems To Simple Terms.

LOS ANGELES—It often takes somebody like a taxicab driver—the favorite listening post of the wandering political reporter—to simplify the realities of life and politics, after the politicians, business men and bankers have had their say.

On the surface, the noise in the land is the clinking of dollars of prosperity. The surface atmosphere is one of smugness and satisfaction among those who enjoy it.

It is disturbed, paradoxically, by a bitter outcry against government from these prosperous folks because they can't get more.

But, underneath, there is a still small voice, hardly detected. It is that of those low-wage and small-salaried folks and there are millions of them, who are being squeezed by inflation.

The great meat issue which so enrages those who could pay for beef but can't get it—is something far different to the others; for if it was laid out on the counter in the greatest plenitude they couldn't afford it.

Which brings me to the taxicab driver, and his outlook so essentially simple that politicians might take note. A chunky, four-square fellow, he was easy with talk, beginning a monologue as we swept down Wilshire Boulevard on one of Southern California's loveliest days.

He and his kind have an old hero who talked straight and simply, and I discovered, they have found a new hero out here, the son of the old hero, who also has that rare quality.

Meat? Yes, the taxidriver started with that.

"I drive often," he said, "by the stockyards' cattle pens. They never were more than a third full. Now they are all full. But no meat." Those people are holding it back for a still higher price. It's a crime—that's what it is. And other people have been holding back things, too.

"When they took off controls beef went up to 80 cents and a dollar a pound. How can folks making $25 and $30 and even $40 a week buy it at that price? I have a family—four kids. It costs us $40 a week for living expenses, food and other things. But I own my own house. What about those other people who don't own their homes, and have got to pay rent? I don't know how they do it." Then he got back to his old hero, Franklin D.

"He was the only president we ever had who could go on the radio and expose just what the big fellows were up to," he said. (I didn't remind him how few "radio presidents" we'd had. Our inventions get taken for granted so soon.) "And that James Roosevelt, he's something now. Diddy ever hear him on the radio? I can understand everything he says. He makes it all plain and simple."

That is quite a tribute to Jimmy Roosevelt. His father had that quality. (Some people thought he made things too simple some times, and maybe Jimmy does, too.)

The taxicab driver—and undoubtedly much that he said came straight from something he's heard Jimmy say in his daily broadcasts—gives the clue to the success that the son of FDR is having here, in his first venture in politics, as State Democratic chairman.

Despite all the noisy surface clamor today, there is a basic philosophy of continual progress which can give the average person a good life, by whatever name you call it, and that has been obscured today by so many side issues—the battle over meat, labor, Communism, the stumbling of the Truman administration, the haste for immediate gains by everybody for himself.

Jimmy Roosevelt seems to have found a way to say it out here. So another Roosevelt may be on his way.

Ohio Reflects National Political Confusion.

CLEVELAND — Here in Ohio, are all the elements of the national political scene in this confused and uncertain year of 1946. In Cleveland, what happened inside the labor movement is typical of what has occurred in many industrial centers.

The bitter split inside the CIO-PAC has a direct bearing, of course, on the outcome of the November elections. It began, or rather it came into the open, nearly two years ago. Communists, or fellow travelers on the Moscow line, had gained control of the Cleveland CIO council.

They worked, as they invariably do, with intense zeal. They invariably turned up for all meetings, armed with a disciplined knowledge of parliamentary maneuver, and they stayed until the last vote was taken.

On a showdown, with the Communists in the majority, the council voted to endorse Arnold Johnston, state head of the Communist party, who was running as an independent for the school board. This caused a great outcry. The Amalgamated Clothing Workers threatened to follow. The endorsement was repudiated.

But the issue was publicly joined for all the world to see. In the two years that have followed, the quarrel between Communist and non-Communist has been fully reported in the papers. Last June another showdown occurred over control of the local CIO paper. Again the Communist faction won. This time the revolt of the non-Communists was overwhelming. Five unions threatened to withdraw their locals from the council—which would have meant a loss of nearly half the membership and, more important, half the revenues.

After this dispute had been thoroughly aired, both factions agreed to put the issue up to Philip Murray, the harassed national president of CIO. Murray sent one of his trusted lieutenants to investigate. As a result, the CIO head brought in an outsider who is today absolute boss of the Cleveland council. The man chosen for this job is George Denucci of Columbus, CIO regional director for central Ohio.

Denucci, a solid trade-unionist who has never become involved in the maze of leftist politics, will clean out the whole organization after the election campaign. Then the council will elect new officers and begin over again. For the time being, the quarrel is in suspension. But politically speaking, the damage has already been done. The public quarrel has supplied the Republicans with effective documentation for their cry of Communism.

In the past that cry has sounded pretty hollow. Now, however, faithfully reported from day to day, is the story of an intrigue, dominated by Communists and fellow travelers, to dictate the policy of one of the chief labor organizations in the state. The Republicans are using this handy campaign ammunition to the utmost.

It makes the position of middle-of-the-road Democratic candidates, such as Governor Frank Lausche and Senator James W. Huffman, very difficult. If they express approval of the reasonable measures of social reform advocated both by the Democratic party and the CIO-PAC, then they are daubed with the red brush.

That may, in fact, be the broader and deeper meaning of the Communist objective in America—to show that there is no reasonable compromise and that we must be all red or all black. If that is true, then the Communists are succeeding admirably in Ohio.

In view of the split, how much real influence will the PAC bring to bear on November 5? In Ohio you get various answers to that question.

Registration of voters in Cuyahoga county, which includes Cleveland, is at an all-time high of 649,127. Even when duplications have been eliminated, it may exceed the 1940 record. Records or near records are reported for other industrial centers.

Whether the vote in the industrial centers will be a Democratic vote is another matter. When Governor Lausche won in 1944, he carried only 17 of Ohio's 88 counties, but those 17 included the great mass of the urban population.

For all the lusty confidence of the GOP, there could be a surprise in those imposing registration figures. Not until the votes are counted will the contents of that package be definitely known.

Cites Army Advantages

M/Sgt. Daniel A. DeSalvo, acting commander of the Mansfield army recruiting office, today urged former army officers to investigate the advantages of re-enlisting in the regular army as master or first sergeants.

DeSalvo, who saw service as a major during the war, pointed out that allowances and benefits payable to first graders make their income approximately the same as a $4,800 a year civilian job.

In addition, there is a 5 per cent increase in base pay for each three years of service, with a 20 per cent increase for service overseas and a 50 per cent increase for a member of a flying crew. Enlistments must be received within 20 days after completion of terminal leave, DeSalvo said.

DOCTORS WARN CONSTIPATED FOLKS ABOUT LAZY BILE

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few, BUT DON'T WORRY—

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but also pep up lazy bile secretion to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15c, 30c. Follow label directions. All drugstores. —Adv.

NEW YORK—"This book is to tell some of the things that were overlooked in the big news of the day," says Merriman Smith, the White House reporter for the United Press, in "Thank You, Mr. President." His contribution to the memories of those who knew Franklin D. Roosevelt. The title is the prearranged signal by which Mr. Smith, as senior White House correspondent, closed the late president's press conferences.

Mr. Smith remains respectful and writes, "I liked Mr. Roosevelt very much," although he proceeds from there to describe a tricky, vain, regal, self-indulgent and deliberately hypocritical man, who would boom "Well, well, how in the world are you, Bill?" to a man of whom he had said, only a moment before, "Bring in the old bore and let's get it over with."

Although Mr. Smith writes that his revelations were "overlooked" in the big news of the day, he makes it clear to us that much of his material was actually suppressed. And, although he justly complains, for the record, against the exclusion of the three-press association men—"ghouls" and "vultures," as Roosevelt called them—from the historic meetings with Churchill and Stalin, he neglects to observe the important point, further descriptive of Roosevelt's true character, that he did arrange for the presence of his son, Elliott, knowing that this exclusive privilege one day would be exploitable for Elliott's great, personal financial profit. This exploitation is now operating in the sale of Elliott's exclusive, though questionable, memoirs, a by-product of the presidency, worth, at a conservative estimate, $40,000.

DURING THE WAR it was common knowledge among reporters in Washington and New York and among the people of Dutchess county, that the army had organized a special household garrison of military police to guard Roosevelt on his week-end trips home and his property at all times. Passengers on the New York Central above Poughkeepsie saw the sentry boxes, reminiscent of royal palaces in Europe, floodlights and communication wires. Yet no word ever was published on this subject until Roosevelt was gone and the war was over. Military

Othman

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Lewis G. Hines is a solid-looking citizen with a peeling-on hair cut, eyebrows like mulberry bushes, two chins, and a melodious voice.

He had a date with some noisy congressmen, who wanted to know how much cash the American Federation of Labor spent on trying to elect—and defeat—the makers of the law. As legislative representative of the AFL, Hines was the man to ask.

He put on his brown sweater (it being a cold morning), buttoned his double-breasted coat over that, snickered a pink chrysanthemum from his front yard, stuck it in his buttonhole, and moved up to the old house of office building to tell 'em.

"And of course you do urge the election of certain congressmen?" asked Lowry N. Coe, the committee counsel.

"Sometimes," boomed Hines. "At present we're doing quite a bit of urging."

"Why?" wondered Rep. Percy Priest, of Tennessee, chairman of the special elections investigation committee.

"Why?" echoed Hines in a voice like a cathedral organ. "Why we want congressmen who'll give a half-way decent break on labor legislation. That's why."

HE SAID the AFL spent not one dime on electioneering. The congressmen pressed him on that one and Hines undid his coat. He fingered his posy and this is what he said:

"We receive quite a number of visits from congressmen, asking for our endorsement. . . . The investigators' eyes bulged wide. Hines kept on talking calm-

3 MORE GROUPS ENDORSE CITY SCHOOL LEVY

Two PTA Associations Put Their Approval on Tax Proposal.

The John Simpson and Prospect schools Parent-Teacher associations and John Simpson Music Booster club today added their endorsements to the proposed three-mill levy to increase Mansfield teachers' salaries.

The John Simpson PTA and Booster club met in joint session last night to hear Rev. Frank Stewart of the Central Methodist church speak on the levy. The groups moved to endorse the issue and to contribute to the campaign expense fund.

Prospect PTA members contributed $100 to the campaign following a talk Monday night by Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Approximately 125 members attended the covered-dish dinner which was held in the school annex.

Mrs. M. D. Harnley, vice president of the John Simpson PTA conducted the business session. Daniel Dech was elected to the presidency.

C. L. Green, president of the Music Booster club, appointed the following committees:

Program committee—Miss Elsie McFadden, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Fernyak, Mrs. M. D. Harnley, Miss Fannie Lew Eiler and Mrs. Virginia Allen.

Ways and Means committee—Owen Fichter, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butts, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pfister and Mrs. Lowell P. Christman.

Special activities committee—William Lay, chairman; Peter Mayer, Daniel Dech, Mrs. Joseph H. Boyd, Jr., and Miss Gladys Arnold.

Mrs. Mary Green will serve as publicity chairman.

Miss Arnold, chairman of the Booster membership drive, reported that membership now exceeds 900.

Fair Enough

secrecy was invoked to suppress a fact which certainly would have moved many Americans to anger when millions of men were called to arms to fight the enemies but a whole battalion could be assigned to this duty.

"Actually, he was a fabulous monarch," Mr. Smith writes. "He could be and was usually, socially democratic, but always with a regal air that never let you doubt that he was in full command of the situation."

When Roosevelt "began to worry about his personal safety," Smith now reveals, "the Hyde Park estate was turned into a land of electrical wizardry. An elaborate electric eye system was installed with a complicated and geared-in system of floodlights which blazed on at the slightest suspicious sound. Companies of specially trained, and investigated, military police were stationed both at the White House and at Hyde Park. They maintained encircling patrol, 24 hours a day."

Berchtesgaden was like that.

ON HIS TWO leisurely "inspection trips"—he loved to travel by train—at least 150,000 American soldiers were assigned to guard the rights of way for the safety of the "regal" president, "several" of whom were killed in this duty.

After Roosevelt's funeral, on the return trip to Washington, "I saw one of the top New Dealers hurl a tray of empty glasses into a toilet and shout in mock bravado, 'Down the hatch; we won't need you any more. Porters and stewards bustled with sloshing trays. You would have thought they were on their way home from a football game.'"

These were the intimate, congenial associates of the regal Roosevelt. He knew them well and had selected them as his intimate helpers and advisers. And such were the drunken swine, truly reveling their disgusting character in a debauch occasioned by his death, whose influence ruled the lives and fortunes of the people of the United States, and now blink their bleary eyes in the current campaign, in reverence for their martyr.

Again, inasmuch as he tells it now, I see no reason why Mr. Smith could not have described this scene at the time, with names.

LUTHER LEAGUES PICK OFFICERS

Russell McCullough Chosen to Head Area Group.

The first post-war reorganization meeting of the Luther leagues of the Mansfield area federation at First English Lutheran church attracted 90 members last night from Lutheran churches within a 25-mile radius of the city. The session included a dinner, a talk by Rev. J. David Mumford of Bucyrus, and a business meeting at which new officers of the league were elected. Rev. Mumford was former assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church here.

John K. Linsenmayer of Mansfield served as toastmaster and group singing was led by Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the First Lutheran church.

Newly-elected officers are Russell McCullough of the First church, president; Richard Flockenier of St. Matthew's Lutheran, vice president; and John Stacy of Mifflin, secretary-treasurer.

Presiding over the business meeting was Miss Vivian Beck, retiring president.

Representatives from Bucyrus, Shelby, Plymouth, Ashland, Lucas and Mifflin attended.

Asks Boosts For Employees

A request for salary increases of $10 to $15 per month for six employees of the county tuberculosis sanatorium was being studied by the county commissioners today.

Dr. Oren A. Beatty, medical director of the sanatorium, recommended to the commissioners that the raises be granted to four cooks, a cleaning employee, and a bookkeeper. He asked that the latter, who is earning $175 per month, be given a $15-raise, the cooks, who are being paid $120, be raised to $130, and the cleaning employee, now earning $100, be increased to $110.

General wage increases for the sanatorium's nurses were granted recently by the commissioners.

Bond of $1,500 Set In Forgery

Antonio Ferrelli, 371 Bowman street, pleaded guilty to a charge of uttering a forged check today in municipal court and was held to the grand jury on $1,500 bond.

Officers said he attempted to cash a $77.39 forged check drawn on the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company and payable to "L. E. Merrin."

Dismissed was a petit larceny charge filed against Mary Montis, 26, of 136 Sixth avenue.

She was accused by Irene Welsh, 126 Sixth avenue, of stealing $10 worth of clothing. She pleaded innocent and the case was dismissed at the request of City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner.

TAKES HEALTH POST

Taking over as temporary city-county health commissioner today was Dr. H. G. Knierrim, Mansfield physician. He replaces Dr. W. B. Wild, who resigned to take a county health directorship in Michigan. Dr. Knierrim will serve until a permanent commissioner is named.

CITY BUILDING PERMITS DROP

Contractors Work to Finish Jobs By Winter.

New building in Mansfield has gone into a sharp slump this month as contractors concentrate on getting already-started structures finished before winter instead of launching new ones.

That is the explanation a major contractor offers for the trend which has seen building drop from more than $400,000 in September to less than $30,000 for the first half of October.

So far this month permits for only two new houses have been issued as compared to 26 in all of September. Only one new non-residential structure has been started this month.

The two homes and a church account for $25,500 of the $28,390 in over-all construction planned this month. The balance went for remodeling work on homes and stores and for garages.

Laff-a-Day

AD MAN FOUND DEAD AT DOOR

A. M. McCready, Ashland, Was Active in Eagles Lodge.

ASHLAND — Albert M. McCready, 46, of 518 J Street, national advertising manager of the Ashland Times-Gazette, was found dead at 7 a. m. today inside the front door of the local newspaper office.

Janitor Howard Michael, who found the body, said it was suspended from a cross bar on the door by a belt. Ashland county coroner gave a verdict of suicide by hanging. He said death occurred about 1.30 a. m. Co-workers said Mr. McCready had been in ill health for several months.

Born in Butler, Mr. McCready came to Ashland 23 years ago. He was employed by the Times-Gazette for the last 22 years.

Active in fraternal affairs, Mr. McCready was appointed Fraternal director of Eagles district 19 director last year. He had been a past worthy president of Aerie 2178, and had instigated purchase of the Eagle's new home here.

Mr. McCready is survived by his wife, the former Dorothy Palmer, of Mansfield, whom he married on June 8, 1932; a son by a former marriage, Mitchell, of Kansas City, Mo.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. McCready, of Mt. Vernon, O.; a brother, Forest, of Madison, Ga., and a sister, Mrs. L. E. Kunkel, of Loudonville.

Funeral services will be held at the Denbow-Bear funeral home on Friday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Harold E. Andrews officiating. Burial arrangements await the arrival of his parents.

AD MAN FOUND DEAD AT DOOR

Eight more instances of pre-Halloween vandalism were reported today by police and sheriff's officers.

The officers were told:

A home trailer was pushed off its wheel blocks at Fifth avenue and Grace street.

Light bulbs, removed from outside electric fixtures at the home of Mrs. L. W. Seiffley, Coolridge Heights, were broken on the ground. Other bulbs were stolen from the home of Mrs. L. E. Thrush, Lincoln Heights.

Five globes and three bulbs were broken by youths throwing stones at street lights on Brinkerhoff avenue. Another bulb was broken at Park avenue west and Brinkerhoff.

Tomatoes thrown at the front door of the residence of LeRoy S. Teater, 60 West Prospect street, broke the screen.

Two pieces of tile were dug from the property of Donald S. Smith, 645 Yale drive, and thrown into the street.

A minor disturbance occurred at Aken avenue and Little Washington road.

Road Relocation Plans Completed

Line surveys and construction plans for the relocation of State Route 97 in Mansfield's Clear Fork water supply project were completed today by the county engineer's office.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said the plans, which were done by his department for the city engineers, will be turned over to the city today or tomorrow.

The plans call for moving approximately one and one-half miles of the road some 600 yards to the south of its present location in order to avoid the waters which will be backed up when the lake is created.

Y Clubs Adopt Y-Teens Name

It's now the Y-teens.

That's the new official name given to the Girl Reserves of the YWCA by the national organization, it was revealed today by Mrs. George Ganyard, chairman of the teen-age committee.

The teen-age committee will now encompass all groups and clubs formerly included in the Girl Reserves. The three Senior high school clubs known as the Blue-Tri and the fourth known as the Nou Servons, will continue under those names.

Members of YWCA junior high school girls clubs at both Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson will be known as the Y-teens.

The YWCA program offers girls the opportunity to develop leadership ability. Emphasis is placed on community and world service.

Interest groups formed among both junior and senior girls will meet twice each month. These include discussion groups, a service project, a dramatics and crafts groups.

Mansfielder Hurt By Hit-Skip Car

Robert H. Killen, 21, of 137 South Main street, suffered a bruised foot when a car he was pushing yesterday was struck by an auto driven by a hit-skip motorist.

Killen told officers that the accident occurred on West Fourth street near Western avenue about 1:30 a. m. yesterday.

Up and Down The Street

THEY HELP, TOO—

A $200, unsolicited check made the Community Fund office workers a happy lot today. The check, from the Dick Construction company of Pittsburgh, Pa., represents the gifts of the construction company workers who are building the Westinghouse addition.

"We feel that their gift is remarkable, not only because it was unsolicited, but also because the company is an out-of-town concern," Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary of the fund, remarked.

PONY RIDES—

Here's good news for school children who like to ride ponies. A group of ponies will be available to school children at the Prospect school tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Prospect School Mothers' club.

Pupils from Prospect school may ride the ponies after school at 3:30 p. m. Other school children will be permitted to ride the ponies after 5 p. m., George W. Taylor, principal of the Prospect school, announced.

TWO-YEAR HUNT FUTILE—

Navy veteran Richard H. Turner, 245 West Third street, survived a torpedoing at sea during his three years' service, but today he's finding civilian life "a pretty tough proposition."

The house where Turner, his wife, and their five-month-old child, Jana Lind, now live has been sold, and the Turners must vacate within two weeks. "We just have to find a place," he said. "I've been looking for almost a year, and I've had absolutely no luck." He said he's willing to take "most anything."

Turner's phone number is 1951-1, and the Veterans Information Center, which also is looking for an apartment for him, may be reached at 1730-6.

... Chatter ...

Co-Operator William Locke giving fellow club members a play-by-play description of the Army-Navy football game which he attended last week-end.

Councilman Fred Miller returning from a week's vacation in Canada to report that "there's plenty of meat up there and butter sells at 45 cents a pound."

Vandals Break Light Bulbs, Toss Tomatoes

Eight more instances of pre-Halloween vandalism were reported today by police and sheriff's officers.

The officers were told:

A home trailer was pushed off its wheel blocks at Fifth avenue and Grace street.

Light bulbs, removed from outside electric fixtures at the home of Mrs. L. W. Seiffley, Coolridge Heights, were broken on the ground. Other bulbs were stolen from the home of Mrs. L. E. Thrush, Lincoln Heights.

Junior Red Cross Council Planned

First steps toward formation of a junior council of the Junior Red Cross for the Richland county chapter was taken yesterday.

Mrs. Ephraim Brown, chairman of the junior chapter, appointed a committee to lay plans for the proposed group. Mrs. Raymond Dent, Johnny Appleseed Junior high school; Miss Helen Larrow, John Simpson Junior high school; and Miss Martha Horne, Springfield township school.

Mrs. Brown met at the chapter home on Park avenue west with approximately 30 teacher-sponsors to discuss the proposed council and to outline a tentative program.

Under the plan, each school's Junior Red Cross council would elect delegates to a county-wide conference.

Springfield FFA Enters Contest

The Future Farmers chapter of the Springfield Rural school will be represented Saturday at a potato and vegetable judging contest at Ohio State university.

Dwight Rader, Dave Malaby and Robert Freund won highest scores in a contest among students in the vocational agriculture classes and will represent the Springfield school at Ohio State.

PORT MANAGER CITES NEED FOR MORE SERVICE

Harrington Tells Club Feeder Planes Won't Enter City Before Summer.

Seeking better air service than the Civil Aeronautics Board has indicated will be available for Mansfield, the city has asked the CAB to authorize more than one feeder line to operate out of the new airport. J. H. Harrington, airport manager, told the Co-Operative club last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner said today that the city had filed an exception to the tentative ruling given Sept. 25 by the CAB which approved the application of the Great Lakes Air lines to operate through the city.

The Great Lakes firm would provide direct flights to Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati. "I frankly believe that the board must give us more than one feeder line," Harrington said. "We need an east-west service between Pittsburgh and Chicago which the CAB said nothing about. We are going to try to get the board to alter its recommendation."

Service Due In Summer.

In any event, there probably won't be any regular air service out of the new airport before next summer, Harrington said.

The Civil Aeronautics board, which will give the final decision on the service, is not expected to meet until December. After a decision is reached the equipment must be obtained and the whole system set up to operate, Harrington explained.

"The earliest possible time I can visualize the service established is June, July or August of next year," Harrington said.

Explaining the difference between airline operators' terminology of "trunk" and "feeder" lines, Harrington said that under the proposed set-up the trunk lines, which are the large air lines, would provide "express" service, while the feeder lines would serve as "locals," stopping at the smaller airports between the larger terminals.

Harrington predicted that ultimately our large congested urban areas are going to be forced, by the development of the atom bomb, to break up and expand, and that air service marks the beginning of that expansion.

"As far as the future is concerned, you can dream as much as you like, and you will still fall short," Harrington concluded.

R. Earl Brandenburg, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

OSR SLAYING TRIAL OPENED

Jury Hearing Murder Charge Against Youth.

Howard Nichols, 20, inmate of the Mansfield reformatory, went on trial before a jury today in Richland county common pleas court on a second-degree murder charge in the fatal stabbing of Janvere Bruck, 18, a fellow inmate, in a supper line-up July 18.

The stabbing reportedly followed the disappearance of a safety razor case containing some pictures and a locket from Nichols' mattress.

Second-degree murder indictments were returned against Nichols and another inmate, Lewis Murton, 19, by the September grand jury.

By 11 a. m. today the state had called four persons to testify. They were Dr. C. Lavender, coroner; Glenn C. Humphrey, deputy sheriff; Dr. J. F. Morey, Mansfield physician, who was called to the reformatory to assist the institution physician, Dr. John V. Horst in treating Bruck, and George J. Allarding, an inspector at the reformatory.

Humphrey testified that on July 22 when Nichols was being questioned at the county jail he admitted that the knife used in the stabbing was his and that he had made it from a file.

Dr. Lavender testified that Bruck was killed by two stab wounds. One entered the abdomen and the other entered at the rear of the left shoulder blade and passed downward.

Dr. Morey said that he found Bruck suffering from extreme shock and loss of blood. He stated that Dr. Horst arrived soon after he did and that Dr. Horst performed an operation.

A jury of five men and seven women was selected to hear the case.

Hiatt Joins Staff Of Gorman-Rupp

Gilmore Hiatt, formerly of the Westinghouse advertising department staff, has been appointed advertising and sales promotion manager of Gorman-Rupp company, J. C. Gorman, president, announced today.

Before entering the industrial advertising field, Mr. Hiatt was advertising manager of the News-Journal and the Marion Star.

Mr. Hiatt lives with his wife and daughter on a farm near Mifflin.
